Introduction

DSA-QAG (the Disabled Student Allowance Quality Assurance Group) provides a quality assurance service for Assistive Technology Service Providers of assistive technology hardware, software, training, support and other solutions funded by Disabled Students' Allowances (DSA) in England and Wales.

The following document represents the Quality Assurance Framework for Assistive Technology Service Providers supplying equipment under the Disabled Students' Allowances (DSA), managed by funding bodies (including the Student Loans Company, Local Authorities, NHS and the Open University) and funded by the Department of Business Innovation & Skills (BIS).

In this document "AT Provider" means a provider of complete computer systems, software, peripherals, installation, familiarisation and technical support who has:

- Registered as an "AT Provider" under the Disabled Students' Allowances Quality Assurance Framework, and
- Agreed to comply with and be audited to this Quality Assurance Framework (QAF).

The main focus for the AT Provider is providing a quality service to the student. To this end, all AT Providers are expected to comply with the service standards listed in this document.

The AT Provider will be Audited on a regular 12- 18 monthly interval. If an AT Provider sub-contracts out to any 3rd party then the responsibility for adhering to the QAF process regarding 3rd parties sub-contracted by the AT Provider, is the AT Provider's responsibility. If the AT Provider does not have adequate evidence to show that the QAF is being followed by the 3rd party, a mini Audit of the 3rd party may be required at the AT Provider's expense.

The Range of Application

Any equipment supplied under the DSA scheme is for the purpose defined during the student's needs assessment and is to support the student's study needs arising from the effects of their disability on their ability to study.

One-stop solution for all system-related items

The AT Provider, as far as reasonably practicable, will be responsible for sourcing all items of equipment (other than furniture) approved by the funding body under the DSA. The AT Provider will assemble the equipment in a compatible system and deliver it to the student. Thereafter, the AT Provider will take responsibility for the performance of all items in accordance with this document.

The AT Provider will collaborate with associate specialist equipment suppliers where this is helpful to the student and where it is reasonably practicable.

Appendix 3: Accessibility Guidelines

The following guide has been compiled in order to aid current, but mainly new centres, in establishing best practise for their website.

With regards to the QAF, point 4.1, ATSP websites are reviewed by the auditor to check the following criteria –

The site is accessible

- Usability
- Layout
- font size (facility to change size)

Please note that the points below are general guidance and are not to be interpreted as a comprehensive listing of all W3C criteria.

For a complete overview and breakdown of all W3C guidelines, please refer to the following web link; <http://www.w3.org/WAI/guid-tech.html>.

- Accessibility tools should be placed at the top of the page, and in the same position on each page. If this is not possible then instructions on how the student can change the text size and font by using shortcut keys should be displayed on the home page.
- The user's style sheet choice should be maintained as they browse through the site.
- The use of accessibility tools should be intuitive and should have a text description/explanation.
- The user should be able to choose from a range of assistive style sheets. As a minimum the user should be able to:
  - change the font size (some hard of sight users want to scale up text, others use screen magnifiers and want to shrink it down to make less moving about)
  - change the background colour
  - choose a high contrast style
- Site should be accessible to screen readers, the site would be structured to assist this (the ability to skip repeated content on each page, such as navigation).
- Captions and other alterations for multimedia should be available (i.e. audio descriptive, sign language interpretation of audio, transcripts/captions of audio).
- If the site met all the WCAG requirements some examples of the benefits are...a customer would be able to navigate the site in a manner that suited them (i.e. mouse, keyboard, roller ball or joystick).
- All information that is conveyed graphically should be described in words, to allow screen readers or other assistive technologies to convey the same information.
- Users are given suitable help to avoid and correct mistakes (Pro-active help, i.e. tooltips, suggestions for correction on submitted forms, etc.).
- Large areas of information should be chopped into smaller sections etc.

- Site must ensure that content does not cause seizures (i.e. video, possible advertisements, dynamic features of web UI).
- Interoperable between different web browsers.
- Printer friendly.
